Committee Will Report On Buying for the Refuge.

Revenue From the Market Hall to Be Looked Into.

The Property Committee held the first meeting of 1916 last evening but there was nothing of any great importance on the bill of fare for the evening. Controller Morris and Alderman McQueen brought up the matter of revenue from the Market Hall, both stating that in their opinion it was not large enough and asked that a report of receipts, expenditures and surplus, if any, be prepared and presented at the next meeting of the committee, and the report will do doubt occasion a general discussion by members when submitted.

Some time ago E. M. Allan and E. A. Nichol, who have stalls in the market hall were asked to prepare a report on the receipts and expenditures of the stalls. The report was submitted and the committee was asked to prepare a report on the receipts and expenditures of the stalls. The report was submitted and the committee was asked to prepare a report on the receipts and expenditures of the stalls.

The annual inspection of the city property will likely be made some time next week, but the date has not yet been decided upon.

Chairman David Newlands and Alderman Hallow will look into the matter of better lighting facilities at the Works Department and the City Engineer's office. The City Engineer stated that the lighting was inadequate and urged that the committee give the application their earnest consideration.

Market Clerk Hill was on hand with the receipts of December, 1915, which showed receipts from the Central Market, amounting to $479.58, and from the four applications were received at the meeting last night.

County Road Superintendents and Engineers to Meet.

To Discuss System of Upkeep of Ontario Roads.

Toronto, Jan. 14.—A conference of county road superintendents and engineers from all the counties of Ontario, called largely for the purpose of promoting uniformity of methods in highway work in Ontario, is getting the county superintendents and engineers into touch with each other for mutual benefit.

legislation providing for Government help toward maintenance of highways, and the probability that such help will be given next summer, will be the main topic of a maintenance system. The expenditure upon the upkeep of the roads in the county systems will have to be made upon a systematic basis, and the discussion of such matters will be a good deal to do with shaping a maintenance system for the province.

The conference will also discuss road laws, and hear from H. H. Van Nooy, chief engineer of the Toronto-Hamilton highway, a survey of construction methods on the big road.

W. A. McLean, chief engineer of highways for Ontario, will preside. The meetings will be held morning after morning on Tuesday, February 22nd, and the three days following.

W. E. Vallance is President for the Year 1916.

That the Hamilton Motor Club is one of the most important organizations in the city was aptly shown last evening at their annual dinner and meeting. The old club was re-elected and added to it was pleasure first and business afterwards, then more pleasure. The dinner was catered to in a manner that satisfied the most epicurean of tastes, and during the banquet, Lomas' orchestra rendered appropriate selections, winning considerable praise by offering a combination of the National Anthem and patriotic songs of Britain and her allies. The king was toasted, all standing and singing.

William E. Vallance, as toastmaster, in a few brief words welcoming the guests, Herbert McFie presented his report as secretary-treasurer. Both were highly satisfactory, the financials were in splendid shape. It was then announced that the banquet of 1916: President, W. E. Vallance; first vice-president, H. H. McFie; second vice-president, M. J. Overall; secretary-treasurer, Herbert McFie; committee—Cyrus B. Brown, J. J. MacKay, R. E. Van Dyke, A. P. Goring and James Moore, all of whom were appointed auditors.

The affair was given a military appearance by the presence of Lieutenant Col. Robertson, commanding officer of the 10th Battalion; Lieut-Col. Brooks, commanding officer of the Canadian Mounted Rifles, and Maj. J. W. Brown, this time in uniform. A splendid reception was given each speaker.

Conference at Washington Over Britain's Reported Threat.

"Diamond Guarantee" Shows Thoroughness of Plans.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Great Britain's reported threat to boycott American concerns in which German interests were the subject of a conference between Secretary of State Lansing and Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, British Ambassador, to-day. No official statement could be obtained so what was discussed, but it was learned that Mr. Lansing indicated to the British Ambassador that the United States will now upon such a boycott by Great Britain.

To-day's conference was strictly informal. An indication of the thoroughness of Britain's efforts to capture German trade follows.

Great Britain will not permit diamonds to be sent from any foreign port to the United States unless the shipper agrees:

1. To ship the diamonds to the British Consul in New York.

2. That the person or persons to whom the diamonds are consigned shall submit to the British embargo laws before receiving the diamonds from the British Consul.

OUR NEWSTORY.

On Saturday the Times begins the publication of a new continuing story. The plot is not entirely new, but the telling is done in a way that will appeal to all lovers of clear, cheerful fiction—the kind you can easily take into your home, and which this paper always makes use of. It's the story of a woman, widely separated in status, whose truth and constancy, despite many obstacles and much sorrow, at last wins their reward; and there is not a woman in the whole passage of the tale when your interest is, and sympathy for, the hero and heroine, is not kept at high pitch.

GIRLS WON OUT

Barnard College Students Beat Men in Brain Test.

New York, Jan. 12.—If there were smiles of complacency around Barnard College to-day it was merely because the girls of that institution have again vanquished mere men in a contest of brains.

The contest, this time in an examination on some of the names and places that are conspicuous in the war, was a contest of the test with a percentage of 74.5 as compared with the record of 58 per cent, for the men of Barnard, this time in an examination on some of the names and places that are conspicuous in the war.

The victorious 22 comprise a class in general European history taught by Prof. James F. Stewart, and are supposed to be representative of the average student who is fairly well acquainted with contemporary history.

"Shift and Jeff in College" opened a little night engagement at the Grand Opera House last evening, and, needless to say, it was a success. Harry Lauder. The advance sale of seats for Harry Lauder's engagement at the Grand Opera House opened on Tuesday evening, and there was a very heavy demand for reservations, which goes to show that the great comedian has not lost his popularity with Hamilton theatre-goers, and the Grand is sure to be taxed to its capacity when the famous actor comes to the city on Tuesday evening. There will be a number of good $2.00 seats at the lower front of the house, and the seats will be eagerly sought after.

TEMPLE. The Hay Harvest troupe of five people will leave next week heading the bill at the Temple Theatre. ## My Mother

A CONTRACT WITH MR. BELASCO

Copyright, 1915, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate. Entered at the Post Office at New York, N. Y., as second-class matter, October 1, 1911. Publication of this article in whole or in part is expressly prohibited except by special arrangement with the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

I studied the books of verse and recitations Mr. Belasco had given me, and prepared myself for the day of my trial. But the verses of his collection made little appeal, and I felt that I could not master my material. I was a trying situation. I did not want to go on the stage, yet I felt that I would get no idea of any talent from a little academic recitation.

The day arrived. Aunt Kate took me to the old Belasco theatre, which was in the heart of the city, and I had a strange feeling, as if we were swallowed up in the gloom of the stage entrance. I knew not whether I would find at the end of it chaos or fairy-land.

An empty theatre is rather formidable in appearance, especially when you are to stand out alone on the stage, knowing that in the box will be a critical group of the men and women who have your destiny in their palm or hand, either to mould or to mar.

THE ORDEAL. Mr. Belasco sat in a box, and when I reached the centre of the stage, they threw the spotlight on me. "I am sorry, Mr. Belasco," I began timidly, "but I do not have any material to recite. I shall have to do the second act of the last play I appeared in." Mr. Belasco smiled at me. "Very well," he encouraged.

I stood there in the middle of the stage, and explained to them I was playing a little street gambler, representing a young man about to arrest me. My plea to the officer was that I had a dying mother whom I supported by my wretched and who depended entirely upon me.

When I was through I felt quite satisfied with my performance. I had done it well. I had done it well. I had done it well. I had done it well. I had done it well. I had done it well. I had done it well. I had done it well. I had done it well. I had done it well.

MONTENEGRO MEETS FATE LIKE SERBIA'S

Austrians But Four Miles From Cettinje, and the Heroic Little Nation Asks Armistice.

BAD FOR ITALY

Adriatic, Instead of an Italian Sea, Will Become Nearly an Enemy One.

London, Jan. 13.—Another decisive stage in the Balkan situation has been reached, with Montenegro now following Serbia in a virtual absorption by the invading forces. It was learned to-night that Austria and Montenegro had come to an armistice, this being construed as the last act of the little country after having been captured, and the final stage of the Austro-Serbian capture of Mount Lovcen.

The Austrian official reports claim that the detachments which captured Lovcen are now fighting within four miles of Cettinje, the Montenegrin capital. They also claim to have driven the Montenegrins from Budua, a fortified port in Southern Dalmatia, and to have occupied Mount Maini, to the north of the town.

It will probably yield. A Milan despatch intimates that it has been decided to evacuate Cettinje and continue the struggle against the Austrians, but that King Nicholas has refused to leave the country. He is considered doubtful here. The accepted view among the best posted circles in London is that Montenegro has practically passed into the hands of the Austrians. The chief significance of the capture of Cettinje is that it is a small territorial acquisition, which is less than Serbia, but in Montenegro's case it is a decisive blow.

The incident, immediately after the Russian blow fell, Jolicoeur walked out of the room to Hearnish and said that he had been mortally wounded. Capt. Martin, medical officer of the division, was summoned from camp and dressed the wound. Jolicoeur's shoulder, where an artery was cut, but while being conveyed to the military hospital five miles away, the wounded man died of hemorrhage. The hospital officer expressed the opinion that Jolicoeur's life had been saved Jolicoeur's life, but the staff had occurred in a small village.

Jolicoeur was quite sober, but Jolicoeur had been drinking, though his previous record was good. The case will go to the Winchester assizes a fortnight hence, this placing two Canadian deaths against the capture of the other being the charge of murder against Lieut. Jolicoeur, of the 10th Battalion. He is, however, may be reduced to manslaughter.
